

Pedestrian Trail Connector

West Virginia Botanic Garden Inc.

Main Goal

Create a safer and more inviting pedestrian cross walk to trail access.

Research Findings

10,000

Community members impacted by improved access

4.5

4.5 Miles of trails surround the garden

1061

located at 1061 Tyrone Road, Morgantown, West Virginia

To get from the garden from the visitors center is a busier road, adding a pedestrian crosswalk allows safer access for everyone to enjoy the beautiful attractions.

Environmental Changes

Created physical and observable change to the built and social environment at West Virginia Botanic Garden

ActiveWV 2030 Physical Activity Plan Sector:

Community Recreation, Fitness and Parks

Health Equity

Strong health equity impact

Makes a much safer access point for everyone to access garden and trail

Garden is free to visit and free access to the trail, allowing all populations to visit

The Bottom Line

The Botanical Garden in Morgantown is a place for people to learn, explore, and enjoy the beautiful environment we live in. Many people come to visit and putting the crosswalk in added an extra safety precaution needed for everyone to continue enjoying the beauty the gardens have to offer. Learn more about the Botanic Garden at www.wvbg.org/

